Adjective, Noun, Verb, Adverb

- Adjectives are describing words. They make nouns more interesting.
- Nouns are words that are used to name things (people, places, things).
- Verbs are doing words.
- Adverbs tell us more about verbs. They tell us how, when or where the action of the verb happens.

Fill in the following table using adjectives, nouns, verbs and adverbs. When you have filled in a row, read what you have written. Does it make sense? Does it sound strange or silly?

If you can, try to use alliteration in each sentence. For example:

Silly Snake Slithers Slowly
Cautious Cat Creeps Carefully
