

A man wearing a red life jacket and a grey t-shirt stands inside a white canoe with a blue interior. He is holding a wooden paddle and looking towards the right, with his hand to his forehead as if shielding his eyes from the sun. The canoe is on a grassy field with a dense forest in the background. A speech bubble points to the man.

How did this happen?