The Computer Suite

Add in the connections between each piece of equipment.

The Router

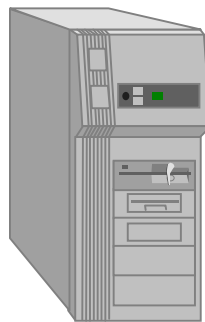

The Router connects us to the Internet via the computers in an office somewhere in Portsmouth.

The Server

The Server is a large and powerful computer that controls the network. All your work and all our applications are stored here.

The Hub

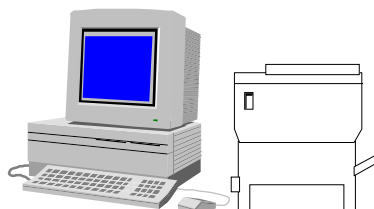

The Hub is where all the workstations plug into and connect to the server.

Each workstation is connected to the Hub. Applications and work are not stored on workstations.

Workstations and Printers

Some workstations have printers attached to them. They can print work from other workstations.
