

A close-up photograph of various coins, including a silver 50p coin and several copper coins, with a text box overlaid. The coins are scattered and overlapping, showing different denominations and designs. The text box is white with a black border and contains the question: "How many different types of coins and bank notes are there?"

How many different types of coins and bank notes are there?