

The background of the page is a musical staff with a treble clef on the left. The staff lines are black and slanted upwards from left to right. There are several black musical notes and stems scattered across the staff, some of which are partially obscured by the large text.

Comp

Position

