

Reporting Problems

Sometimes things can go wrong online.

A website might have a technical problem or somebody may be breaking the rules.

Find out how and where to report problems. But always be honest and don't waste time reporting something if it isn't really a problem.

skooville

| What is the problem?                                  | Should you report this problem? |
|---|---------------------------------|
| I'm hungry.   | Yes / No                        |
| Daniel has sent me a rude message.                    | Yes / No                        |
| My friend knows my password. Can you help me?         | Yes / No                        |
| The link to the games section doesn't work.           | Yes / No                        |
| I really don't like One Direction... They're rubbish! | Yes / No                        |
| Keira keeps asking me for my phone number.            | Yes / No                        |
| I can't log in and it won't let me reset my password. | Yes / No                        |
| Someone posted a photo of me on the site.             | Yes / No                        |
| My best friend says she hates me :-{                  | Yes / No                        |
| I don't agree with one of the reviews on your site.   | Yes / No                        |